INVESTIGATION OF GREAT AIR DISASTER BEGUN

Troops May Be Sent Into West Virginia
MARCHING MEN
ALARMS CITIES
MORGAN WIRES

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—President Harding is considering the question of sending United States troops into West Virginia as the result of a request from Governor Morgan of that state, it was announced at the war department this afternoon.

Governor Morgan declared that armed bands are forming throughout West Virginia and that they are moving on Charleston and that armed insurrections threaten. The President today conferred on the situation with acting Secretary of War Wainwright and Major General Harbord, chief of staff. Major General Harbord had ordered Brigadier General H. H. Bandholz and Colonel Stanley H. Ford to West Virginia at once to render reports on the advisability of dispatching Federal troops to maintain the peace.

The action of the President will be withheld pending receipt of a report from General Bandholz, which probably will be received tomorrow. Governor Morgan, in his appeal for troops, stated that while there were no outbreaks as yet, the armed forces are increasing in strength and the situation appears to be serious.

Armed men have held up automobiles and trains and demanded free transportation, the governor declared and there has been constant reports of pillaging of food stuffs in the line of March of the armed men.

Reports of threats made by the forces also have reached the executive offices, the Governor stated. He asked that not less than 1,000 troops be sent into Charleston and vicinity.

BAND MARCHES

LOGAN, West Va., August 25.—An armed band of miners, estimated in numbers to be between 2500 and 6000 men is reported today to be moving toward Mingo county. Reports received here this morning said the force camped at Marmet and started by automobile across Boone county, intending to cross Logan county and enter Mingo county where martial law prevails.

This city was an armed camp today. Great excitement prevails here as the caravan of armed miners is expected to appear soon. Five hundred men have responded to the appeal of Sheriff John Chaffin to help him repel the invasion of Logan county.

At 9:30 o'clock this morning the vanguard of the union army was entering Logan city, according to telegraphic advices from that city.

Florida Sheriff
After Prisoners

Sheriff W. H. Lyle, of Suwannee county, Florida, is here today to get two prisoners held in the Morgan county jail in connection with a burglary charge. Requisition papers were granted for one of the defendants and the other will return without them, it was stated. The defendants are said to reside in Hartselle.

FACULTY ANNOUNCED

The following faculty for the Decatur negro schools was announced today by W. W. Benson, superintendent of the Decatur public school system: James E. Pickett, Ella M. Pearson, Josephine Pickett, Sadie Floyd, Carrie C. Harris, Lillie T. Ellis.

AUBURN OPENS

It is announced by President Spright Dowell that the fifth session of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute will begin Monday and Tuesday, September 5 and 6, with the registration of students, followed by the regular class work on Wednesday, September 7.

PETER GUSMAN IS HELD ON A MURDER
CHARGE THURSDAY
FOR PEORIA POLICE

Husband of Stephenson's Daughter Taken Into Custody by Officers

SUSPECTED OF BRUTAL
SLAYING OF WOMAN

Police Holding Gussman Pending
Arrival of the Illinois
Authorities.

(International News Service)
BIRMINGHAM, August 25.—Upon the request of Chief of Police J. E. Martin, of Peoria, Ill., Peter Gussman, husband of Mrs. Ruth Stephenson Gussman, daughter of the Rev. Edward Stephenson, charged with killing Father James E. Coyle two weeks ago, was taken into custody shortly after noon in connection with the murder of a woman in Peoria on November 18, 1920.

Gussman's name, which appeared in connection with the Coyle tragedy, attracted the attention of the Peoria authorities and the description of him, printed in the Birmingham papers, caused the Illinois police to connect Gussman with the "Pedro Gussman," who is alleged to have brutally murdered a woman with whom he had been living in Peoria by cutting her to pieces with a razor.

The description furnished Chief of Police Shirley, of Birmingham, of the man wanted by the Peoria police is almost identical with that of Gussman, Chief Shirley said this afternoon.

Birmingham authorities are holding Gussman pending the arrival of officers from Peoria. The murder of the woman created a sensation in Peoria at the time it was committed. It is said to have been one of the most brutal ever committed in Illinois.

Gussman denies the accusation and says he was in Birmingham in November, 1920.

CONGRESS QUITS;
BEER MEASURES
STILL HANGS FIRE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Congress recessed today, leaving only the members of the senate finance committee behind to wrestle with the tax and tariff bill during the 30 days' recess which began officially when the senate threw up its hands and quit just before midnight with the Willis-Campbell anti beer bill still to be acted upon.

This measure, carrying the Anti-Saloon League's search and seizure amendment reposes on the shelf to be called up and debated again when the senate reconvenes a month from now.

Failure of the bill to pass finally in the senate may lead, it was stated, to the issuance of regulations by the treasury department under which physicians will be authorized to prescribe beer and wine for the sick in accordance with the decision rendered by Attorney General Palmer March 3.

TABERNACLE WILL BE BUILT FRIDAY
BY VOLUNTEERS IN ONLY ONE BIG DAY

Every Detail Pertaining to the Campaign Has Been Worked Out

NURSERY ESTABLISHED
ON COURTHOUSE LAWN

Meetings Are Scheduled to Start on Fourth of September

Last evening's paper carried the announcement of the plans of the executive committee of the Bob Jones Campaign for the erection of the tabernacle, which event will take place on Friday, August 26th.

This tabernacle is to be erected entirely by volunteer labor and a call is made to all men of the Twin Cities to put their shoulders to the wheel and get the building up in one day.

A committee of ladies has assumed the responsibility of providing a barbecue lunch for all the volunteers working on the tabernacle Friday of this week. This committee met on Tuesday at the Y. M. C. A. and from the report of one of those present it would seem that any man, who fails to help build the tabernacle will miss a dinner worth working a day to get.

The ladies in charge of this work are: Mrs. Seneca Burr, Mrs. W. H. Ritter, Mrs. Graham and Mrs. W. R. Alexander, supplemented by ladies from all the cooperating churches.

Every detail pertaining to the campaign has been worked out and one of the interesting and valuable features of the Bob Jones building will be a nursery, provided for small children. A committee of more than twenty-five ladies met on the courthouse lawn yesterday and worked out details of the plan. Tents will be provided in the courthouse yard, which will be equipped with beds, play things and sanitary drinking cups. Competent nurses will be in charge at all times during the services. The nurses will be volunteers from the churches cooperating in the campaign. Special precautions will be taken for the care of children and the sanitation of the equipment. There will always be a mother in charge.

Meetings are scheduled to start September 4th and continue for a period of three weeks.

Hill Released
on a $500 Bond

(Montgomery Bureau Albany-
Decatur Daily.)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., August 25.—Dr. L. L. Hill, famed as a surgeon throughout the south, was released from the city prison on a $500 bond to answer a charge of assault on murder Wednesday afternoon following the announcement of surgeons that E. A. Hamrick, proprietor of Hamrick's drug store, was not seriously injured by a bullet which Dr. Hill fired into his body earlier in the day.

TRIPLTS BATTLE
TEN INNINGS WITH
THE TWINS BEFORE
GIVING UP 9 TO 8

Final Game of Season Here is Victory for Albany-
Decatur

TRIO OF CONTESTS TO END TERM IN SHEFFIELD

Big Outpouring of Fans Here
See Final Exhibition of the Season

Battling the Triplets ten innings for a 9 to 8 victory, as the approaching night draped the field in shadows, the Twins shortly after 6 o'clock yesterday watched the finale of their 1921 performance and rang down the curtain on their activities for the year. It was a great finish to an exciting game, ending a successful season.

The Twins today were off to Sheffield to play three engagements with the Triplets there, winding up their schedule. The rejuvenated Miners from Russellville continued to win yesterday, defeating Columbia again and preventing the Twins from clinching the second half pennant. Until the pennant is finally disposed of, there is little chance of arrangements being perfected for the post season series, league officials declared.

There was a big outpouring of fans for the final matinee and they were amply repaid. The opening stanzas gave the Twins a big lead, but the visitors came from behind and tied the count in the seventh, after which Russell relieved Sells and applied the brakes. Russell hung up his thirteenth scoreless inning when he shut out the Triplets for the time he was on the mound.

The Twins successfully wooed Miss Victory in the tenth. Johnston went out Romine to Lucas, but Russell cracked a single to center. Lewis dumped a grounder to Romine, but the latter's throw to Bing-ham to force Russell was dropped by the visiting shortstop and Russell went safe. McClain fouled out to Nathan. McDuff handcuffed Underwood with a blow past second and Russell rode home for the last Twin run of the year.

McClain saved the game for the Twins in the ninth when he raced to deep left-center after Romine's drive, making one of the prettiest catches ever seen here.

The game was replete with unusual plays. In the seventh with Gilliland on second and Russell at the bat, Large balked and then made the pitch to the plate. Umpire Thomas called "no play," but Russell did not hear the warning and took a swing at the ball, flying out to Elmo Thomas, however, stopped the play and sent Gilliland on to third. Russell then fouled out to Nathan.

In the tenth, Underwood's anxiety to make an extra base on a fly to Lewis probably cost the Triplets a run. With Underwood on second and Leroy on first and nobody down, Bing-ham elected to hit, rather than sacrifice, driving out a fly to Lewis.

PRESENCE OF MIND OF CONTROL
OFFICER SAVES CITY OF HULL

Petrol, Flowing From Fuel Tanks Ignited
by Motor Causing First of the Two Explosions Aboard

HULL, ENGLAND, August 25.—An official observer. The presence of mind of Lieutenant Wann, one of the survivors, averted what would have been even a greater calamity for the city.

The disaster, the most appalling in the history of peace time aeronautics, was almost instantaneous. The breaking of the girders and the two explosions which broke the back of the giant craft, sending her crashing with a loss of 43 lives, all occurred within 5 seconds.

Out of the 49 men on the board, only 6 escaped, one of them an American, Normal O. Walker, a rigger, Commerce, Texas.

From stories told by survivors and the observation of experts the ZR-2 was carrying too much weight for her framework. Several girders are believed to have broken under the strain, penetrating the fuel tank.

The petrol flowed out and was ignited by the motor, causing the first explosion. The British air ministry was in sole charge of the craft when she was wrecked. The ship had not yet been turned over to the United States navy department. Her final and fatal trial flight was being made under the direction of British Air Marshall Matland and Lieutenant A. H. Wann, of the British air service.

Commander L. H. Maxfield, United States navy, who was to have been in charge of the dirigible on her voyage across the Atlantic, was on board as an official observer.

The suddenness with which the calamity occurred. This accounted for the heavy loss of life. Elaborate precautions had been taken to provide safeguards for the men on board and there was an individual parachute for each, so quickly did the girders break and the ship exploded that the men were caught unawares and only a few were able to take advantage of the parachute.

CAPTAIN WALDEN
CALLED BY DEATH;
FUNERAL THURSDAY

Captain Daniel Walden, aged 75 years, one of Morgan County's best known and most highly respected citizens, died last night at 12 o'clock at his residence, 411 West Moulton street. Funeral services will be held this afternoon at 5 o'clock from the residence, conducted by Rev. Gary Gamble, of Huntsville, and interment will be made in the city cemetery.

Funeralbearers will be: C. T. Sewell, C. E. Maolne, E. C. Nix, Spencer Garnett, J. L. Gunter, W. F. Lowe.

Captain Walden is survived by his wife; one son, Minor Walden, of Trinity; two daughters, Mrs. Charles P. Black, of Birmingham and Miss Julia Walden, of Albany; one adopted daughter, Mrs. Mattie Simpson, of Albany; one sister, Mrs. C. T. Royer, of Decatur.

Captain Walden was born in Decatur June 24, 1846, the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Walden. The latter came here from Virginia and were among the earliest settlers of the present Twin Cities. Captain Walden resided all of his life on his farm near here and in the Twin Cities.

During the civil war he served with distinction in the cause of the Confederacy and since that time he has had an active part in the work of the veterans' organization in this section. He represented Morgan County in the legislature many terms and was widely known throughout the state.

MILITARY BOARD OF INQUIRY PROBES
$5,000,000 FIRE

(International News Service)
HOBOKEN, N. J., August 25.—A military board of inquiry was to meet here today to determine the cause of the $5,000,000 fire which last night destroyed piers 5 and 6 military headquarters and several smaller buildings. The bodies of 4,700 soldier dead brought home from France were saved by the valiant efforts of troops stationed at the pier, aided by Hoboken citizens.

The giant steamer Leviathan, formerly the Vaterland, was saved from destruction although her superstructure was burned and her side badly scorched. The fire was discovered on the middle of Pier 5 early last evening. It spread through the wooden pier quickly and the whole water front seemed a raging mass of flames within a few minutes.

The fire continued to spread until about 10 o'clock when it was finally brought under control. Firemen from Hoboken, Jersey City and New York, worked until nearly dawn today, however, before the blaze was completely mastered.

PURE BRED CALVES
TO BE DISTRIBUTED
AMONG THE YOUTHS
OF MORGAN COUNTY

Local Banks Finance Plan for Raising Stock Standards of County

EXPERT TO ENLARGE
DIVERSIFICATION ALSO

County Agent Johnson Making
Arrangement for Distribution of Calves

Fourteen pure bred calves arrived here late yesterday for distribution among boys of Morgan County in line with the campaign of local banks and the county farm agents to enlist the interest of Morgan's young farmers in diversified farming and raising the stock standard of the county.

The calves were purchased by the Central National and Morgan County National banks, working in cooperation with County Agent Johnson. Mr. Johnson and E. E. Graves, assistant cashier of the Morgan County National, went to Nashville Monday to make the purchase.

The sale of the calves are financed entirely by the banks, the sales being made to the boys on credit. Through this plan, the backers of the plan expect the boys to raise sufficient feed stuffs to care for the calves and to pay for them in the course of a year or slightly longer. When the calves, themselves, become producers they become assets at the same time. The campaign serves a double purpose in that it is believed to encourage the young farmers to enter the diversification programs.

The two banks expect to place at least 25 pure bred calves in the county in the course of the next few months.

County Agent Johnson today was making preparations for the distribution of the calves. It is likely that the boys will be invited to come here Saturday to receive them. Entertainment for the visitors is being arranged during their stay here Saturday.

Board of Pardons
Has Busy Week

(Montgomery Bureau Albany-
Decatur Daily.)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., August 25.—Members of the state board of pardons are ready to cry "calf rope" or make such other utterance as will bring relief since another case involving a death penalty was referred to them for recommendation Wednesday. This time it is Will Fairchild, Coosa county negro, who seeks to have his sentence commuted to life imprisonment. He is condemned to be hanged September 2 for the murder of a negro woman.

Fairchild is faring better than other negroes who came before the board this week because his petition is supported by the trial judge, solicitor and several prominent citizens of Coosa county, who filed a petition recommending the commutation of the sentence to life imprisonment.

Judge W. L. Longshore and W. W. Wallace, solicitor, will come to Montgomery Saturday to appear before the board of pardons in behalf of the negro.

This will be the fifth case involving a death penalty to be submitted to the board this week.

Malone to Give Away Tire Covers

The Malone Coal, Grain & Motor Company announces today that on Saturday night, between the hours of 7 and 8 o'clock they will give absolutely free to all comers who ask for them one tire cover. As the supply is limited to between fifty and one hundred, all who wish covers should call for them early.

THE LONG DELAY AS TO MUSCLE SHOALS

The government has been sustaining huge losses in the sale of war material, both at home and abroad—and without a murmur from the people. Because this is true, is one of the many reasons why it is so hard to understand, the present extreme caution, and long delay, in the disposition of the Nitrate Plant at Sheffield and the Wilson Dam at Muscle Shoals, when an offer has been made to repay the government what they cost. Just a few days ago the U. S. shipping board sold 205 of the 281 wooden ships built for war purposes, for $430,000, or at an average of $2100 each. Those ships originally cost the people $230,000,000 of hard earned money. This loss is so small in comparison with the $26,000,000,000 total war charges, that it may as well be charged and lost and forgotten. As is the case in all building enterprises, all that is lost is the material, the time and the labor necessary, the money itself is still in existence.

The wooden ships have been sold for a song; but with the governments holdings at Muscle Shoals it is different. The whole world is being sought, to find a bidder who, presumably will out bid a man, who has already made such a generous offer to the government as to astound the world. Much time has elapsed since Mr. Ford made his offer, and apparently every effort has been made to pick a flaw in it, but to no avail. If his offer is what responsible men say it is, why is it held up, when the begrudging bid of $2100 is accepted for one of the war made wooden ships? Ships that cost $230,000,000 are sold outright for less than half a million dollars, when dollar for dollar is offered by Henry Ford for the Nitrate-Muscle Shoals property of the government. Why do not our representatives at Washington jump at it?

THE HARBOR OF RUSH BUSINESS SIGHTED

Right conditions of mind are the mainstays in business, as well as in every other enterprise of life. A never say "nay," indomitable, optimistic spirit has staved off what might have been a financial defeat for America, such as has come to the other nations of the world. No great disaster has overtaken America and business is actually picking up. Many of the railroads are returning hundreds of men to work, especially in the West. Reports show that more and more furnaces are being fired in the Birmingham district. Such evidence are full of encouragement; but rushing business conditions have not yet been established. Before a driving business can be done throughout the country it must first exist, in the minds of the people. They must lay the plans and put them into execution and not wait for some wave of prosperity to come from beyond the sea, or from anywhere else. The following from the New York Commercial is valuable and bears out the contention that business success must first exist in the minds of a large percentage of the people before great things are actually done in the business world. The writer in question says:

"Intelligence, resolution, conscientiousness are the new complexion of the times, and the pasty-faced softness of the years of war prices and of bacchanalian profiteering no longer spot the face of the country with hectic economic blotches.

"Go into any city you please, North, East, South or West. Walk up and down the main business street and what do you see? Why, just people going about their business very much the same as they did in the gloriously inflated period when the sky was the limit and a dollar looked like 30 cents. But with this difference; there is a consciousness of a greater responsibility and a realization that the soft times have gone and nothing less than conscientious work intelligently directed will relieve the situation.

"It does one no good to try and dodge the fact that we are confronted with staggering problems, foreign and domestic, which only the best judgment can solve. But with the right condition of mind prevailing and with our shoulders to the wheel, the commercial skill of the American people will not take long to establish the business of our country on a normal basis.

"Away with the talk that industry is hanging on by the skin of its teeth. The good old ship Progress was carrying too much sail and when the heavy gale struck she careened badly and pitched things out of place, but today with the sail shortened and the cargo readjusted we are back on an even keel, well prepared to ride tempestuous seas and safely reach the harbor of good business."

FAITHFUL DAN WALDEN

In the death of Captain Dan Walden, Morgan county and Alabama has lost a man of rare parts. "Integrity" might well be inscribed on his grave stone, for he was faithful in every walk of life and went to his reward with the full confidence of those with whom he moved in life. Fearless, just and considerate of others, in his public and private life, Captain Walden will live on in the hearts of the people.

EVEN THE THRIFTY "BITE"

From the Pittsburgh Dispatch.

It is rather surprising to hear that the precise and scientific public of Germany, with Berlin as the storm center, has fairly fallen over itself in a scrambling scuffle to invest money in a speculative enterprise that ought to have had its habitat on the Illinois prairies, contiguous to Chicago. A well known patron of the German turf three months ago set upon its tentative feet a "Sports Bank" scheme by which investors were promised—through hectic adventuring assurances—a return of 95 per cent per month, more on long investments. Within a few days he had a string of 40 branches scattered throughout German territory. The banks were organized to place bets on horses at German, French and other continental race tracks, and are reported to have held a working capital of 10,000,000,000 marks.

The obviousness of the character of the scheme is said to be the excuse of the government for failing to interfere, though unheeded warnings from private sources were numerous. In spite of them, unthinking speculators fairly swamped the bank with cash and would have continued had not government revenue officials raided the place to confiscate several million marks to cover unpaid taxes. That "broke" the bank and brought the crash. The promoter owned and occupied a princely villa in Berlin, had a magnificent estate at Zossen, and gave annuities of kings' ransom proportions to winning jockeys—but his resources amount to only 30,000,000 marks against liabilities of not less than 100,000,000. Is the traditional cautious, thrifty German character changing, as this wild scheme seems to intimate?—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

THE OTHER SIDE OF IT

It is interesting to note the use of argument to be adopted by European opponents of "disarmament" when they come face to face with that issue. William Bird, an observant Paris correspondent, declares that Europe finds itself in the strange position today that even if "disarmament" should be agreed upon in principle, its armies can not be disbanded. Four million men are in the English and continental armies, excluding Russia. The civilian labor of at least 4,000,000 is employed in keeping the soldiers supplied with food, uniforms, equipments and munitions and providing transportation. To reduce the armies by half would instantly put 4,000,000 persons out of employment.

Greater unrest would follow than Europe is capable of withstanding, it is suggested. Bird says no purely military reason exists for an army of 800,000 men in France, for 600,000 in Poland, for 300,000 in Italy, nor for 105,000 in little Belgium. They are kept in the armies of their countries to relieve the pressure upon industry and to keep them employed and satisfied.

However, we do not anticipate that "disarmament" will be put into effect before Europe's industrial condition improves and makes ready to receive the new-comers.—Montgomery Advertiser.

THE CELEBRATED RENO

The fact that one lady has traveled half around the world to secure the services of the Reno divorce experts to get surcease from the matrimonial entanglement in which she is enmeshed by the laws of two nations is but an incident in the career of that celebrated city.

Mail-order houses in the divorce industry are still in their infancy, but give promise of great things. There has grown up in Reno a body of experts who can divorce anybody, but the case of the lady from Asia is the first which has come to our attention which is so clearly in the nature of an international divorce.

Reno, of course, has other claims to public recognition. There is no more generally energetic and forceful community anywhere. But its specialty is doubtless the divorce industry, in respect to which it leads the world and its fame has spread to all nations. Reno is unquestionably the divorce center of the world.—San Francisco Chronicle.

BUT WE LIKE IT

It's great fun, if you don't get excited about it, to watch the antics of the politicians in congress.

For example, yesterday Senator King, democrat, of Utah, got himself interviewed and made the suggestion that Woodrow Wilson be selected as one of the American delegates to the disarmament conference.

It takes us back to the days just prior to the war when the democrats held the reins of government and the republicans proposed Theodore Roosevelt for about every important job.

How they did rave, when President Wilson refused to see things their way!

Well, now the republicans are captain of the ship, and it is pretty safe to guess that Woodrow Wilson will not be picked as a delegate to the disarmament conference.

And the democrats will rave!

It's an old game, old as the country itself, but the American people like it.—Port Huron (Mich.) Times-Herald.

It is said that Lenine has made arrangements with the British government, to spend his vacation in Scotland. It is doubtful if he would be allowed to run at large in Ireland.

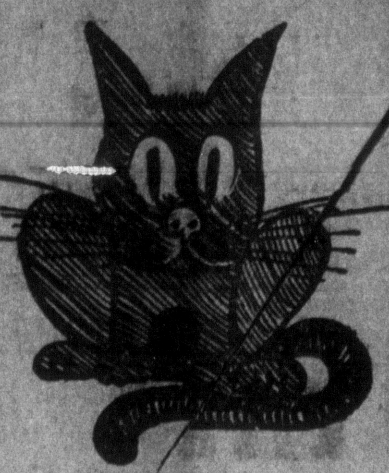

War times and war conditions caused people to see more and further; but like the turkey that looks over the fence and remains a turkey still, are we not as short sighted and selfish as we were before a world vision opened before us.

Representative Volstead seems to have a host of friends despite the fact he is a lid-tight prohibitionist. Or is it just because Senator Reed is so unpopular?

The prohibition enforcement officer for Mississippi is a Coldwater man; but still he might be for fire water in his heart of hearts.

The laying ability of the hens of China has become so considerable, that American hen fruit is to be protected by a duty of 6 cents on the dozen.

OFFICE CAT

Copyright 1921, by Edgar Allan Moss.

The government is planning to boost the price of postage stamps for ordinary letters to three cents, and we hope that it does. There is altogether too much letter writing in this world, and if another cent will have a deterrent effect it will relieve us just that much.

Most of the letters are rather painful. They beg to state, they enclose herewith, they refer to our invoice No. 633,221, your order No. 47,896, they urge us to find enclosed, or warn us that they are sending under separate cover. They beg to acknowledge, or regret to inform; they take pleasure in quoting, they trust that we have received in good order this thing or that. They are as alive as a dime's worth of drops.

Far be it from us to tell the government its business, but the method of selling stamps has been all wrong. Let the recipient, and not the sender pay the postage. Each morning when the postman brings you, say a half dozen envelopes, sealed but without stamps. You look through 'em. Some you reject, of course, and on these the government would sustain the loss, but on others you are willing to pay quite a tariff. Like this:

For Single men, letter from$4.00
Married man, letter from wife.....01
Letter selling oil stock 00
Letter inclosing check$5.00
Letter with stock dividends.....$6.00
Letter notifying one of assess-ment 00
Wedding announcements 00
Dinner invitations 65
Fishing invitations$9.00
Invitation to help in drive 00
This gives a sketchy outline, but you can get the drift. Perhaps too, if attractive young women carried the mails, and were persuasive enough even higher prices could be had.

We believe that higher postage would materially cut down the number of post cards one gets from various resorts and summer vacationists. "If my friend sends me a picture postcard, I know I am on his conscience but not on his heart." You know the kind of postcards everybody gets. Things like this:

"Having grand time; wish you were here."

"Lovely bathing and wonderful beach, wish you were here."

"This is a view from our cottage, wish you were here."

"Dancing pavilion, lovely dances, every evening; wish you were here."

"Picture of four pounder Bob caught; lots of fish at this lake, wish you were here."

"The bunch in our bathing suits, wish you were here."

"Here is a picture of the lake in a storm, wish you were here."

"With you were here."

These are fairish samples of the average postcard. Of course one appreciates such little attentions. Yet equally of course one could live for several days, weeks, even, without them. A great many are sent for a penny. Few would be sent for two cents. One has few friends who think that much of one.

Years ago we invented the typewriting machine. It was hailed as considerable wheeze. Before that time business men had been wont to write their two or three letters a day by long hand. It took an hour or more. "Now," say they, "with the typewriting machine we can do this work in ten minutes."

But they didn't. They wrote more and more letters, and finally needed help, and the professional stenographer came into existence. Still the craze for letter writing grew, and Mr. Editor, ever alert, invented a thing that you talk into, called a dictaphone, so that a business man might sit up all hours of the night dictating letters for the stenographers next day.

And that wasn't enough. Machines were invented for turning out letters with wonderful rapidity—hundreds every minute, thousands every hour. A machine was invented so that a man could sign his name 300 times with one stroke of the pen.

What do all these millions of letters with wonderful rapidity—hundreds every minute, thousands every hour. A machine was invented so that a man could sign his name 300 times with one stroke of the pen.

What do all these millions of letters talk about? Oh, everything. The sale of merchandise, the state of the weather, of the market, of golf, of one's soul. No subject is overlooked none is slightest. In starting three cent post the government is on the right

ATHENS NEWS

Mrs. Annie Jones, her daughter, Miss Pleas Jones, and her grand daughters, Misses Campbell, of Nashville, have been visiting Mrs. R. H. Richardson. Mrs. Annie Jones is very pleasantly remembered here as the Aunt of Mrs. T. M. Hobbs and Mrs. R. H. Richardson.

The many of friends T. M. Hobbs are pained to know of his recent illness. Dr. Witt of Nashville was called and gave him the best of attention and found it necessary to have him taken to Nashville a special examination. Mr. Hobbs was taken to Nashville that afternoon, accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. Betts and a trained nurse, Mrs. Betts, having been called to her father's bedside by wire.

The secondary Agricultural school opened Tuesday with full attendance, it is thought that this will be the best year during the schools history. Miss Sarah Bandy has again been added to the school's faculty much to the delight of the old students, who have been under her care before. Miss Bandy has been at Columbia University for the past year taking special work.

Mr. Cox has returned after having attended a short course at Auburn and now is ready to take up his vocational work in school. His friends are glad to welcome with him his new bride of only a few months. Mr. and Mrs. Cox will have rooms at Mrs. Will Clay's home this fall.

Miss Ruth Moore, of Bethel, Tennessee, is spending the winter in Athens. Miss Moore is also a teacher in the schools here.

Miss Cora Lee Stonestreet is visiting her friends and relatives. Miss Stonestreet is connected with the Gulf State Steel and Iron Company of Birmingham. She will spend the rest of her vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Stonestreet on West Washington St.

Sheriff and Mrs. Puryear are spending his vacation at Red Boiling Springs, Tenn. During the absence of the Sheriff, Judge J. E. Clem will have charge of the office.

H. F. Canfield, of Birmingham, has been a recent visitor to Athens.

VISITS GOVERNOR
(Montgomery Bureau Albany-
Decatur Daily)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., August 25.—Alf M. Tunstall, sage of the house of representatives of Alabama, came to the capitol Wednesday afternoon for a conference with Governor Kilby. He did not say what subject brought him here nor did Governor Kilby indicate whether or not it involved any matter of public interest. Mr. Tunstall has been a member of the house of representatives for many years and is regarded as one of the best parliamentarians who ever sat in each branch of the legislature.

It will not raise the revenues, but it will lessen the accumulation of daily mail, and give a little time to attend to business. But three cents isn't enough. Ten would be vastly better.

"TIRED BUSINESS MAN" MYTH

Here Are a Few Facts That Throw
Cold Water on Appellation That Was Always Silly.

A chronically tired business man is an anomaly. There isn't no such animal. Nobody believes in him. A man who is tired the round of the clock from what he is pleased to call overwork—who gets up tired, and goes to bed tired, and does all his living in a tired way, is entitled to call himself by as many names as he pleases; but he mustn't call himself a business man—not unless he wants to be the object of smiles like any other incongruity. It may not be just, but it's so. Moreover, it is perfectly just in a vast majority of cases.

Ninety per cent of the business men who deceive themselves into the notion that they are tired because they overwork are tired because they don't take care of themselves, and they don't take care of themselves because they are too lazy and indolent to do it. In other words, many a so-called business man allows himself to be chronically tired, an outwardly respectable hobo in a white collar. He plays the fat boy. An unsympathetic world has a way of telling the fat boy that if he will eat less, take some exercise, shake his liver and act like a normal boy he will yawn less.

Everybody with good sense knows that work, other things being equal, is a remedy for most of our ills, and not the cause of them. It can become otherwise only by a perversion of thought.—The Nation's Business.

INTENDED ADVISE RULER

Cabinet of President of the United States a Copy of Old Institution in Europe.

From the earliest times the king of England was assisted in his government by a body of men known as the "privy council"—men whose advice was sought in the gravest and most delicate affairs of state. But, with the gradual increase of the democratic character of parliament, the real government of the nation became more and more vested in the king's parliamentary ministers, while the rank of privy councillor came to be bestowed as a purely honorary distinction upon men to whom little was confided. As a result the sovereign resorted for advice to his principal ministers and hence arose the custom of selecting the leading parliamentary members of the party in power. When the United States government was formed this idea of giving the ruler the assistance and advice of a group of picked men was borrowed from the British system, while the word "cabinet" was taken from the French, where it signifies a small cabin or room—kings and other potentates being accustomed to consulting with their ministers in a private room or "cabinet."—Columbus Dispatch.

When the Briton Got Home.

Englishman and American sitting in a room with four visible doors in it. The American got weary of doing nothing, so he said to Bob: "I'll bet you $5 there are five doors in this room."

The Englishman replied: "What's the matter with you? You can see blamed well there are only four."

American—I am game. Put up your money, and let's be doing something, anyway.

The bet was made. The American commenced to count. "One door, two doors, three doors, four doors, cuspidor, five."

Englishman—Ha, ha! Bally good. Wait till I get back to the old country and I'll pull that one sure.

When the Englishman got back to his club and found a room with four doors, he pulled the joke. He commenced to count: "One door, two doors, three doors, four doors, spittoon," and does not know yet where his foot slipped.—Chicago Herald and Examiner.

Remarkable Australian Trees.

Among the many peculiar trees of Australia are found the flame-trees rising to nearly one hundred feet; the fire-trees, the only tree that blossoms scarlet red, resembling a tree on fire; beef-woods, leafless trees with drooping, rigid branchlets of the color of beef and the Indian figs, a wonderful, lofty tree of graceful form and brilliant color.

THOUGHT

"If the 'Drama of life' is to end with a hole in the ground, then in my poor judgment it is unworthy of its Author, who is capable of building the world for a stage, doming it with the sky, curtaining it with the clouds and lighting it with the stars.—Selected.

Mrs. W. C. Maddox and Mrs. A. C. Bell were joint hostesses at a party Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Bell, given in honor of Misses Elizabeth and Margaret Shean. The parlor and dining room were beautifully decorated with ferns and cut flowers. Miss Elizabeth Shean presided at the punch bowl. At a late hour an ice course was served to the following: Misses Ruth Sharpe, Carrie Vest, Elva Fowler, Mary Edwards, Hazel P. Estelle Johnson, Laverne Stroup, Willie Kent, Margaret Shean, Mamie Sandusky, Elizabeth Shean, Sarah Petter, Flora Rowe and Velma Hazelip, Messrs. Owen Davidson, Herman Huffman, Newman McKnight, Lawrence Sheffield, Joe Motherway, Jack Bailey, Prent Daniel, Thomas Hazelip, John Hodge, Duncan Williams, George Bell and Burt Wade.

Miss Bess Bailey entertained the N. N. Club Thursday afternoon and visitors of the members. The four tables were arranged in the living rooms which were simply decorated with baskets of cut flowers. At the conclusion of the games of Rook a salad course was served. Miss Margaret Broadus won the prize and Miss Agnes Cassels cut the consolation. The visitors were Miss Rella Rudolph of Selma, Miss Margaret Price, of Florence, Miss Mary Collier Johnson, of Florence, Miss Elizabeth Cobb, of Huntsville, Miss Elizabeth Jackson, of Hartselle, and Miss Elizabeth Clary, of Atlanta, Ga.

BY-PRODUCTS OF LITERATURE

Authors, Planning African Trip, Certainly Is Overlooking Nothing That Can Be Made Useful.

Using the by-products is the most characteristic feature of distinctly modern industry. How thoroughly this principle has been applied to literature comes out in an interview with a charming and able Chicago novelist who is taking her five-year-old daughter into Africa gorilla hunting with Carl Akeley's party.

The author in question will make the trip to collect local color, the basic material in the fiction industry. The first product will be a novel, with a movie to follow. But not all the local color which an African trip is bound to yield can be used in a novel, so the author plans to work over the waste in a travel book, which will find a ready sale to that small but choice public which has weaned of fiction. The third and rather special product will be the story of her small daughter's reaction to the adventure, which is expected to make another interesting book.

Each of the three books is a separate product of the basic local color; each will satisfy a certain special need and reach a public of its own. Between the fiction readers, the armchair travelers and the students of the child-mind, this author pretty well covers the book-buying classes. Considering how little daughter will probably react when she sights her first gorilla, the "child reactions" book may fairly be called "utilizing the squeal."—Chicago News.

KNOWS RIGHT TIME TO FISH

Man's Many Friends Have Furnished Him Just the Particular Dope, and the Rest Is Easy.

"I have the accurate dope now on just when to go fishing at the lakes," said a man who expects to take a vacation soon.

"I talked to a man last week and he said if I wished to do any good, to fish from 12 midnight to six in the morning. He used frogs and spatted for bass and caught lots of bass and also bluegills at that time. Besides it isn't hot then."

"Talked to a man Monday and he told me just when to catch them. I learned from him that the time to fish was between sundown and 12 midnight. He caught lots of bass and bluegills and crappies at that time."

"Talked to another man and he told me the best time to fish was from sundown until about 10 o'clock, and from 4 p. m. until dark."

"There was another neighbor of mine who gave me good advice. He never fishes after dark, but says he never paid any attention to the heat and that he always caught as many fish in the middle of the day as he did early in the morning or in the cool of the evening."

"So you see, I know just when to do my fishing."

Dog Lover Never All Bad.

He who loves a dog may not be all he should be in the qualities of manhood, but you may safely bet money on it that there is, nevertheless, something in him that merits respect, albeit sometimes to be searched for. The dog gets nearer to the human heart than any other of earth's unhuman habitants.

Says Tooth Paste Today Ruins Teeth

Prominent dental authorities recently found, after extensive investigating, that many of our most popular tooth pastes actually cause decay instead of preventing it.

Due to their abrasive nature, they report, tooth pastes and powders may often wear away the enamel on teeth, allowing decay to set in and cause cavities. They also fail to penetrate the gum pockets where the germs of pyorrhea and other dangerous mouth diseases breed.

Instead of teeth-scratching, gum-tearing and inefficient tooth pastes and powders many dentists now recommend a new liquid dentifrice, called Steroline, which does away with all the disadvantages of tooth paste. Being a liquid, Steroline readily gets into even the tiniest crevices, cleansing them thoroughly. In addition it makes an excellent mouth wash—a few drops night and morning keeps the mouth cool and sweet and acts as a preventive of the many diseases contracted through the mouth. Sold and highly recommended by Albany Drug Co. Money back if you want it.—(Adv.)

MORE MEN THAN WOMEN HAVE APPENDICITIS

Medical reports shown men are more subject to appendicitis although many sudden cases occur among women. It can be guarded against by preventing intestinal infection. The testinal antiseptic, Adler-i-ka, acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel, removing all foul, decaying matter which might cause infection. It brings out matter you never thought was in your system and which may have been poisoning you for months. Adler-i-ka is EXCELLENT for gas on the stomach. Dillehay Bros, druggists.—(Adv.)

NEWS OF HARTSELLE

HARTSELLE, Ala., August 25.—Special—The mass meeting held at the city hall last night for the purpose of considering the advisability of putting in a Rural Farmers telephone exchange, failed to take any action looking toward this new departure.

Addresses were made by two stockholders of the Falkville Rural Phone Co., setting out the plan under which they built and maintain their system, and an organization was called for, but no action was taken further time in which to consider the matter.

A committee of four were appointed by the chair to see the citizens in person and ascertain just what their wishes are in that direction.

The company at Falkville under the new system get their service at $1.50 per month, flat rate.

There has been considerable interest manifest here recently over the

Maury Countain
Bids on Muscle
Shoals Project

The Columbia Herald prints the following interesting story regarding H. D. Ruhm, who is bidding for Muscle Shoals:

Maury county is represented in the bidding for the great Wilson dam and Nitrate plant at Florence, Ala., H. D. Ruhm of New York and John Ruhm of Mt. Pleasant, who have been operating in this county under the firm name of the Ruhm Phosphate Company.

H. D. Ruhm, who was at Florence, Ala., Tuesday gave out an interview in which he stated that he had submitted a bid on the Muscle Shoals project two days after Secretary Weeks had announced that they would be received, but he declares that up until this time the Secretary has never acknowledged receipt of the bid.

Mr. Ruhm declared that he had offered to take over the nitrate plant and the completed power plant at the Wilson dam as soon as the government could provide sufficient power to operate the nitrate plants and agreed to pay an annual rental of $4,800,000 therefor.

The bid, however, required the government to modify the machinery of the nitrate plant somewhat. The proposed lease on the properties was to run for a period of fifty years, and contained a clause which provided for the surrender of the plant to the Government in the event of war.

Mr. Ruhm declared his bid was accompanied by reference and guarantors of his ability to finance the deal, the guarantors having a combined financial rating in excess of $200,000,000.

Mr. Ruhm stated that he had made the bid with the view of using the plant for the manufacture of commercial fertilizer in the event the offer was accepted by the government. He declined to disclose who was associated with him in the enterprise.

Three Negroes Are Scheduled to Hang

(International News Service)

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., August 25.—Unless last minute executive clemency is granted by Governor Kilby, two negroes, two convicted of murder and the other convicted of highway robbery, will be hanged in Alabama at noon tomorrow. Two of the executions are scheduled to take place in this city and the other at Mobile. Will Morton, convicted of holding up and robbing J. M. Cannon, a dairyman, last spring, is one of the negroes scheduled to be hanged here. Morton was convicted when the crime wave was at its height and received the full penalty of the law as the result of the general indignation that swept the city.

Morton was granted a reprieve by Governor Kilby 18 hours before he was to have been executed on August 12. He is the first man on whom the death penalty has been passed for highway robbery in this state in 20 years.

John Whiteside is scheduled to hang here for the murder of J. I. Burge, a 73 year old Confederate veteran and Lacey Murphree, his 15 year old companion, last May.

RESPIRE RECOMMENDED (Montgomery Bureau, Albany-Decatur Daily.)

MONTGOMERY, Ala., August 25.—Willie Roy Peagler, young negro of Bulter county, sentenced to be hanged Friday for the murder of Earl Henderson, white, at Chapman, was recommended to Governor Kilby for a sixty day respite by the state board of pardons Wednesday. This action was taken solely in order that the negro's attorneys may appeal his case to the supreme court.

COTTON MARKET
CONTINUES FIRM

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, August 25.—The cotton market had another firm and active opening today at 14 to 22 points net advance. There was support from Liverpool, the South, trade interests and local shorts inspired by dry hot weather in the Southwest and rains in the Atlantic.

At the advance, however, old longs unloaded freely and considerable selling by Japanese and Southwest spot people occurred, causing a reaction of about 8 to 10 points from the opening level.

Nature's Remedy

DR. DILLON'S

Question: What is the foundation of all wealth?

Answer: The Earth.

Q. How many Earths are there?

A. There is but one Earth.

Q. What other resources have we?

A. Those of converting the resources of the Earth.

Q. Then, we are solely dependant upon the Earth for our subsistence?

A. Right you are.

Q. Are there other Earths being made for human beings?

A. There are none in sight.

Q. Then, it occurs to me, that as the population of the Earth increases, there will be an increasing premium on its different portions?

A. Son, your thinker sure is working.

Q. Is the Earth for sale?

A. Yes.

Q. Who sells it?

A. Otto Moebes, Real Estate, is selling it off in pieces, but he won't sell it all to one party.

Q. Then he is very considerate?

A. Yes, he is trying to divide it up so it will go around and everybody have a share.

Q. Does he own the Earth?

A. No, he is trying to arrange for the fellow to own it who needs it.

Q. Can I buy a piece of the Earth from Moebes.

A. Yes, with a fence around it, with a house on it, either in the woods or in a field; on the mountain or in the valley; on a farm or on a street; on a railroad or on a pike, or on both.

Q. Has there been much doing in this Earth selling business lately?

A. Yes, there has been more of it sold in the last thirty days, than for twelve months previous to that.

A. Can I borrow money on real estate?

A. Yes, it is the only REAL security, that is why it is called real estate.
